TERMS & CONDITIONS (CONTRACT OF CARRIAGE)

Carriage Contract Version: 1.0 (Status: Published)

TERMS & CONDITIONS OF CARRIAGE SERVICE Effective Date: January 2026

TERMS & CONDITIONS OF CARRIAGE SERVICE - Effective date Jan. 2026

1. By handing over any shipment to the company, or by requesting pickup, booking, or confirming via any electronic means, the sender confirms that all information and declarations provided are true, complete, and accurate.
2. The sender is solely responsible for ensuring that the shipment contents comply with all applicable laws, customs regulations, and import/export policies of both the origin and destination countries.
3. The company reserves the right to refuse, hold, return, or cancel any shipment if the required documents, declarations, or approvals are incomplete, suspicious, or unavailable. In such cases, all return charges from our hub to the sender's address shall be fully borne by the sender.
4. The sender confirms that the shipment does not contain any prohibited, restricted, dangerous, illegal, or undeclared items. Any consequences arising from such items shall be the sole responsibility of the sender.
5. The company acts only as a forwarding and logistics service agent and shall not be held liable for any delays, confiscation, customs duties, penalties, taxes, inspection, or seizure by customs, airlines, airports, or government authorities.
6. Any delivery time provided by the company is an estimate only and is not guaranteed. The company shall not be liable for any compensation due to delays caused by customs clearance, weather conditions, airline issues, operational issues, public holidays, war, strikes, or any unforeseen circumstances.
7. The company shall not be liable for delays, non-delivery, confiscation, seizure, or destruction of shipments caused by customs authorities, government agencies, airlines, or other regulatory bodies. The sender shall be responsible for paying all shipping charges, customs duties, taxes, storage charges, return charges, penalties, inspection charges, or any additional expenses arising during transit or at destination.
8. The sender understands and agrees that shipments may be physically inspected, opened, scanned, or examined by customs, airport security, or other authorities during transit without prior notice. The company shall not be responsible for any loss, damage, leakage, spoilage, breakage, delay, or missing contents caused during such inspection, repacking, handling, or by any third-party authority.
9. The company shall not be responsible for any partial or full loss of the shipment caused by customs authorities, airport security, airline authorities, or any government agency during inspection or clearance procedures.
10. Pickup charges shall apply for shipments collected from the customer's location. These charges may vary depending on the pickup area, distance, weight, dimensions, manpower requirement, waiting time, floor access, loading conditions, urgency, or other operational factors. If the customer requests cancellation, return, or re-delivery after pickup or after arrival at our facility, additional charges for return transportation, handling, storage, packing, repacking, labour, or related operations shall apply. All such charges shall be fully payable by the sender, whether or not the shipment is ultimately forwarded. All applicable charges must be paid in advance unless otherwise approved by the company in writing.
11. Packaging of the shipment is the sole responsibility of the sender. The company shall not be liable for any damage resulting from improper, weak, or insufficient packing.
12. If packing or repacking services are provided by the company (whether free or paid), such packing follows standard operational practices only. The company shall not be liable for damage, leakage, breakage, or loss caused by the nature of the contents, handling during transit, customs inspection, airline movement, or other external factors beyond its control.
13. Fragile items, liquids, food items, electronics, batteries, perishables, glass materials, utensils, ceramics, high-value items, items of sentimental value, or other breakable goods are accepted for shipment entirely at the sender's risk. Even if professionally packed, such items may suffer dents, scratches, leakage, damage, or breakage, and the company shall not be held liable for any such damage.
14. Under no circumstances shall the company be liable for indirect, incidental, emotional, commercial, or consequential losses, including of business, loss of profit, or personal inconvenience.loss
15. The company reserves the right to open and inspect any shipment for security, operational, customs, or verification purposes without prior notice to the sender.
16. Any customs duty, import tax, or clearance charges at the destination shall be payable by the receiver or the sender. Non-payment may result in return, abandonment, or destruction of the shipment without any liability on the company.
17. If a shipment is refused, unclaimed, abandoned, or returned by the receiver or authorities, all return shipping charges, storage fees, penalties, customs fees, taxes, and related expenses shall be borne by the sender.
18. The sender acknowledges that the packaging may be opened, repacked, or altered by customs, airlines, security authorities, or handling agents during transit.
19. Any dispute or claim regarding the shipment must be reported in writing to the company's official email ID within 24 hours from the date of delivery. Claims raised after this period may not be accepted.
20. The company reserves the right to correct invoice values, shipment details, or declarations if required for operational, customs, or documentation purposes.

21. The sender understands and accepts that invoice values used for forwarding purposes may differ from the actual market value and are prepared based on operational, customs, or shipment category requirements.
22. The sender confirms that all items handed over are for lawful purposes only and do not violate any intellectual property rights, trademark laws, export controls, or sanctions.
23. The company shall not be liable for courier suspensions, flight cancellations, route changes, customs restrictions, or government actions affecting shipment movement.
24. Any legal or recovery expenses incurred by the company due to the sender's shipment, declaration, or violation shall be recoverable from the sender.
25. The sender agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the company, its staff, agents, and partners against all claims, damages, penalties, liabilities, or legal proceedings arising from the shipment.
26. The company may hold shipments pending clarification, declaration review, payment confirmation, compliance checks, or customer approval.
27. Shipment tracking updates are subject to system availability and operational updates. Temporary absence of tracking updates shall not be considered as loss of the shipment.
28. The company reserves the right to dispose of abandoned or unclaimed shipments after a reasonable holding period without prior notice.
29. Refunds, if any, shall be granted solely at the discretion of the company and only in cases of service failure directly attributable to the company.
30. The sender accepts that customs authorities may independently reassess the shipment value and may impose duties, penalties, or confiscation regardless of the invoice provided.
31. Requests for changes in delivery address, contact number, rerouting, or any other corrections after dispatch may attract additional charges and delays.
32. The company shall not be responsible for delays or losses caused by incorrect address, contact details, receiver unavailability, or incomplete documentation provided by the sender or receiver.
33. By handing over the shipment, requesting pickup, booking, or providing any confirmation (via email, WhatsApp, SMS, online platform, or other electronic means), the sender and consignee irrevocably accept these terms and conditions in full.
34. The sender shall pay any revised, additional, or emergency charges imposed after pickup or during transit due to freight increases, fuel price hikes, airline demand, war, government restrictions, operational disruptions, or unforeseen circumstances. If the sender refuses to pay such charges, the company may hold, stop, return, or cancel the shipment, and all related charges shall remain payable by the sender.
35. Rates are subject to variation based on destination zone, remote area classification, ZIP/postal codes, volumetric or actual weight, and minimum weight requirements for promotional or offer rates. The company reserves the right to revise rates, plans, and service terms without prior notice.
36. Shipment charges shall be calculated based on the actual weight or volumetric weight, whichever is higher, as per courier, airline, or destination country standards. Re-weighing or re-measurement during transit may result in additional charges payable by the sender or consignee.
37. Shipments with odd dimensions, oversized packaging, irregular shapes, excess length, fragile structure, or special handling requirements may attract additional handling, airline, or operational charges. Such charges may be identified later during transit processing and shall be fully payable by the sender or consignee.
38. Additional charges may apply for non-vegetarian food products, electrical items, electronic goods, cosmetics, oil-based products, wooden items, dairy items, wax products, artificial jewellery, fancy items, and similar special-category goods. These items must be properly declared in advance. Such charges shall be separate from standard courier charges.
39. The company shall not be responsible for indirect, incidental, consequential, or business losses arising from shipment delays, damage, or non-delivery.
40. For non-commercial or personal shipments, the maximum allowable declared value is INR. 10000/- only per shipment. Any declared value provided by the sender is for customs purposes only and does not automatically create insurance coverage or entitle the sender to compensation. Declared value exceeding INR.10000/- shall not be accepted under the above said mode.
41. Insurance coverage or Declared Value Protection, if required, must be specifically requested and approved separately in writing before shipment dispatch.
42. Any claims related to visible damage, shortage, leakage, tampering, wrong items, or loss must be reported in writing to the company's official email ID within 24 hours from the time of delivery. The claim must be supported by a continuous unboxing video (recorded from the beginning of package opening without pauses, cuts, or edits) along with clear photographs of the outer packaging, shipping labels, internal packing, and affected items. The original packaging must be retained until claim verification is completed. The company shall have the right to inspect the shipment and packaging before processing any claim. Only one claim per shipment shall be entertained. Acceptance of any compensation by the sender shall constitute full and final settlement of all claims related to that shipment.

43. The maximum liability of the company, if any, shall be limited to INR 1,000 or the declared invoice value of the shipment, whichever is lower. This liability cap is final and absolute under all circumstances. Under no circumstances shall the company be liable for any amount exceeding this limit except where the sender has specifically purchased and the company has approved Declared Value Protection in writing before dispatch, in which case liability shall be limited to the approved coverage amount only. All courier charges, service charges, pickup charges, packing charges, customs-related expenses, taxes, duties, and other operational fees paid to the company are non-refundable under any circumstances, including loss, damage, delay, seizure, return, or any claim.
44. Shipments abandoned, rejected, or unclaimed by the consignee may be returned, disposed of, or destroyed as per applicable regulations, and all related costs shall be borne by the sender.
45. Offer rates, discounted plans, bulk pricing, and promotional schemes are subject to change, withdrawal, or suspension without prior notice and may have minimum weight or destination restrictions.
46. The company shall not be liable for delays, losses, damages, service interruptions, or operational failures caused by events beyond its reasonable control, including natural disasters, war, civil unrest, pandemics, epidemics, strikes, lockouts, government orders/restrictions, cyber incidents, supply chain disruptions, or any other event beyond the reasonable control of the company.
47. Any disputes arising from the shipment services shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction and laws of the company's registered office location. The parties agree to first attempt amicable resolution through mediation before initiating formal proceedings.
48. For personal belongings, used household goods, or non-commercial shipments, the declared value may be based on operational, customs, or depreciation standards and may differ from the original purchase price, market value, sentimental value, or replacement cost.
49. The sender is solely responsible for reviewing and confirming item descriptions, quantities, and declared values before dispatch. Processing shall proceed only after the sender's confirmation and acceptance.
50. Any compensation or claim settlement, if approved, shall be strictly limited to the declared shipment value confirmed in the documentation and shall not be based on original purchase value, resale value, emotional value, or market replacement cost.
51. Declared Value Protection (if opted) is provided under the company's internal policy only and shall not be considered third-party insurance. It shall not cover prohibited items, fragile goods, glass items, liquids, perishables, electronic data, cosmetic damages, customs seizure, regulatory actions, delays, wear and tear, improper packing, or damages from authority inspections, airline handling, or force majeure events (unless specifically approved in writing). Courier charges, taxes, duties, and other service fees are not covered and remain non-refundable.
52. By proceeding with the shipment, the sender and consignee acknowledge that they have read, understood, and fully accepted all the above terms and conditions.
53. Respectful Communication Policy The sender and consignee agree to communicate with the company and its staff in a respectful, courteous, and professional manner at all times (via calls, WhatsApp, email, SMS, or any other channel). The use of abusive, profane, threatening, harassing, or offensive language shall constitute a breach of these terms. In such cases, the company reserves the right to immediately terminate the interaction, blacklist the sender/consignee, refuse future services, and pursue appropriate legal remedies under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) 2023 and the Information Technology Act,
- 54.
55. Call & Communication Recording All telephone calls, WhatsApp voice notes, and electronic communications with the company may be recorded or monitored for quality assurance, training, dispute resolution, and legal protection purposes. By continuing any call or communication, the sender/consignee expressly consents to such recording.
56. Public Reviews & Feedback Any public review, rating, or feedback (including on Google, social media, or review platforms) must be factual, respectful, and based on genuine experience. False, malicious, defamatory, or abusive reviews may result in legal action for defamation and/or violation of platform policies. The company encourages genuine feedback through official channels and reserves the right to report policy-violating reviews to Google or other platforms.
57. Office Visits & Physical Complaints Any customer visiting the company's office premises agrees to conduct themselves in a peaceful and respectful manner. Any form of threat, intimidation, abuse, or disturbance shall be treated as a criminal offence under BNS Sections 351 and
58. The company reserves the right to call the police and initiate legal proceedings. All office areas are under CCTV surveillance.
59. Electronic Acceptance The company may send the Terms and Conditions or declaration via email, WhatsApp, SMS or any electronic means to the sender or, if the sender has no email, to the consignee. A reply such as "I ACCEPT", "YES" or any clear affirmative statement shall constitute valid, irrevocable and legally binding acceptance of all Terms and Conditions. Physical signature is not required. Such electronic acceptance shall have the same legal effect as a physical signature under the Information Technology Act,
- 60.
